

YOUR TASK

You can adjust the compensation package for your production workers.

What will you offer your production workers this quarter? Will it be competitive with what other workers are earning in the industry?

DECISION TIP

If there has been a change in exchange rates in the region in which your firm produces, the cost of employing production workers will have changed. Depending upon the direction of the change, your labor costs could have gone up or down.