

Review your production performance and adjust your production strategy and decisions.

YOUR TASK

See if you stocked out of any of your brands or if there is a discontinued brand that is tying up cash in inventory.

If you designed new brands this quarter, remember to schedule them for production.

If you have been taking the proper steps to control your production process, you will be able to start taking specific actions to bring your operations within tolerance. If you have not been moving down this path, it is not too late to do so.