

Adjust the frequency of your advertising.

Are you placing the same number of insertions in all markets? Some markets are more profitable than others. Advertise more often in the most profitable markets. The same is true for different market segments.